

Empower and Inspire...

Leading Edge Professional Development Corporate Leadership Development

What distinguishes a great leader from a good leader?

How do some leaders inspire and empower their people to be the best possible?

Taking leadership to the next level means not only making the individual leader aware of their unconscious behaviours and biases and the impact these have on the people around them, but how to use this self-awareness to nurture what is working and change what is not.

What makes our programs more effective than other leadership programs? We can guarantee to meet your objective through our experiential sessions where horses are your 'teachers'.

Yes, horses! Having honest, immediate and totally non-judgmental feedback, horses are a leveller that no human can match. They have no agenda, and know nothing about the office politics. Horses react to the real person.

Quite simply – we make the invisible visible.

Participants build greater awareness of themselves and their leadership style through a series of group based activities with our horses, facilitated by our leadership coaches. Further developing emotional intelligence, self-confidence and self-awareness lays the foundation for truly authentic and effective leadership.

Are you up for the challenge?

Ask our 'teachers' whether you're a true leader...

For more information and bookings:

leadingedgeprofessionaldevelopment.com.au

Our unique programs include:

- Experiential leadership coaching sessions with our horses
- Individual and team based leadership and communication style analysis using the MiRo Psychometric Assessment tool
- Strategic thinking, self-awareness and empowerment activities
- Catering and refreshments
- Corporate gift and and post event photo album
- Option to hire facilities and equipment for your own training purposes

Leading Edge
Professional Development